Reuben Hoar Library
Littleton, Mass

Each year the class of 1996 gets together to put on its annual car wash. It is a time when the whole class can get together and support our school. This one event helps every member of the class to realize that we are in this together, and we are finally washing our hands of it. In this way, the class must go through the wash to find its connection. While the teachers at LHS clean up our act so that we can make it in the future, we also find time for scrubbing out the competition in all sporting events. Those of us that are not into athletics polish up our time with the various clubs and activities that our school offers. In that free time we have left, the class of '96 makes a huge splash on the social scene. Though the underclassmen must continue on through the ringer, be consoled. After all the suds & such, the class of 1996 made it to the end of the line, and so will you.

Each year the seniors and underclassmen of LHS paint the spirit rock. Here it boasts both Halloween and football spirit!

Littleton Junior Senior High School is filled with talented kids who take part in many events. Scott Allyn shows his soccer talent...and fashion sense.

Ah...the miracle of life! Science students explore!

Regina Chaple

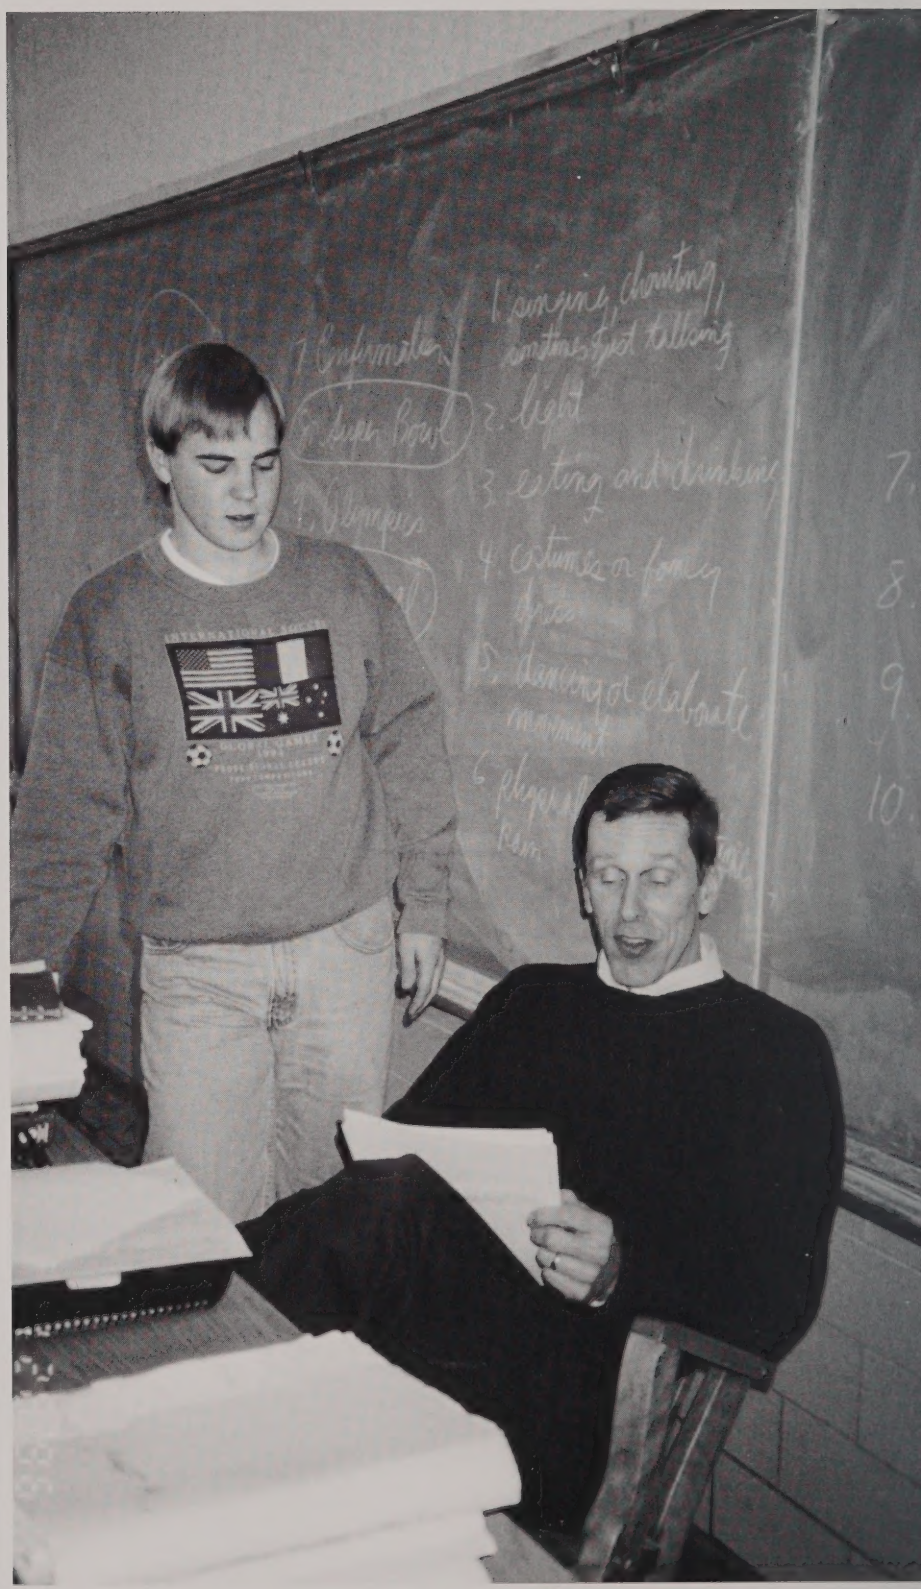
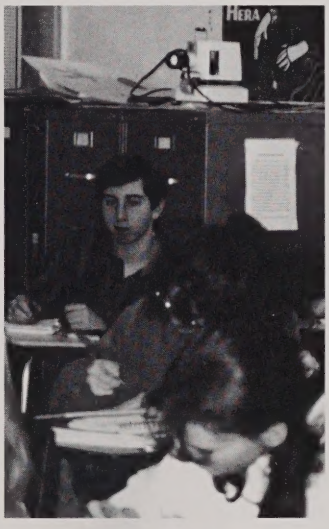
Sondra Hart

Christina McCumber



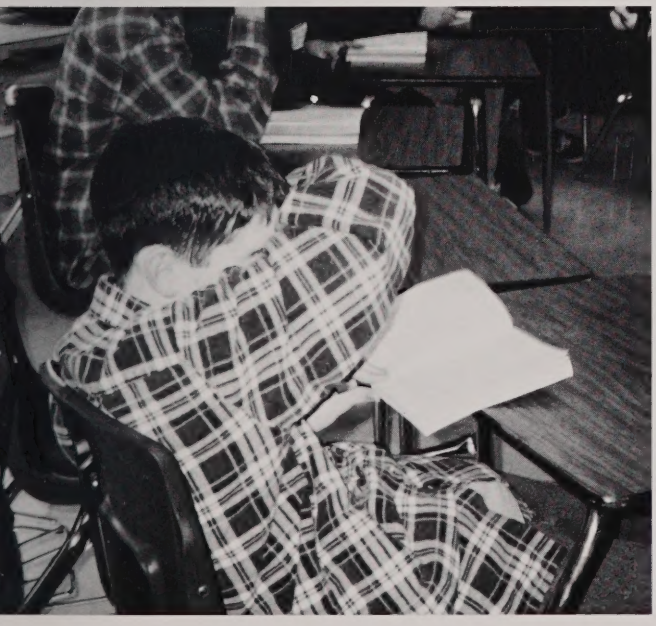
Well...it could use a couple changes! Mr. Spaulding helps Scott Allyn with his research paper.

English presides as our first language, and a favorite subject. Whether it reveals itself as Mrs. Hart with her wonderful Wordly Wise, Mrs. Granata and the brilliant book talk, Mrs. Chaple and the romantic Romeo and Juliet, Mrs. Holt and the terrific Tale of Two Cities, Mrs. Webster and the incomparable critical review!, or Mr. Spaulding and the notorious research paper!!!, each teacher has something special to offer. The English department intertwined with the History department gives culture and a past to each story we read. Robert Frost tells us, "Two roads diverged in a yellow wood, and I - I took the one less traveled by, and that has made all the difference." Our English teachers may not point us towards one certain road, but they open the doors to each path before us, and allow each student to grow in his or her own way. That, ". . . has made all the difference."



What does "fell" mean again? Lisa Frizzell concentrates on her Wordly Wise.

Hey, English isn't that hard after all! Ben Masella comes to a realization.



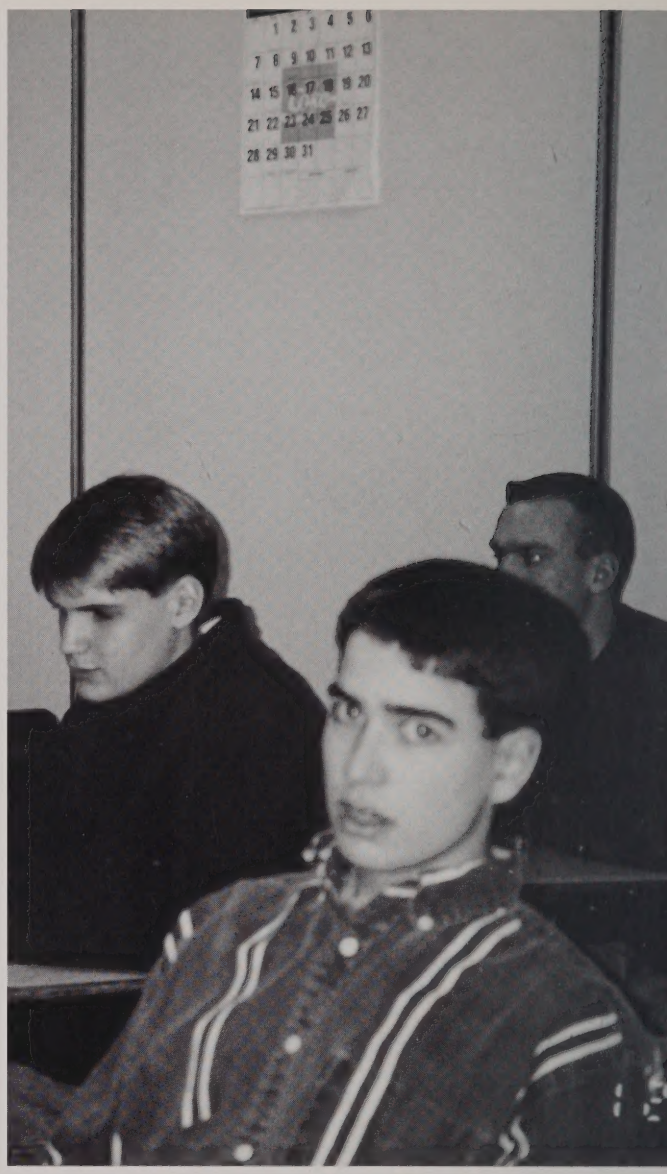
English makes me so emotional! Eddie Collins breaks down.

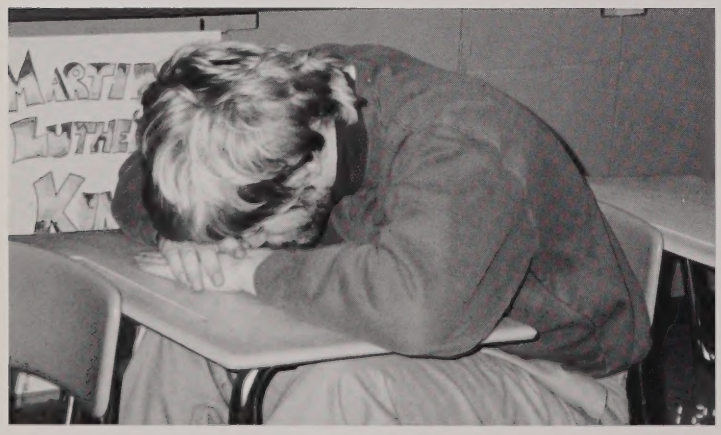
Many English students are enthralled by Mrs. Chaple's class.

Social Studies is broad topic. It ranges from United States History, to Modern European History, to Geography, to Law and Economics. Each topic brings us more in tune to the world around us and our future, as well as our past. Along with learning about the world around us, US History students hone their writing skills as seniors, with Mr. Webster and the non-fiction critical reviews. Students explore our laws with Mr. Harhen. Ms. Corkum introduces all juniors to the Civil War and its circumstances. The seventh graders begin to put our history into focus with Mr. Crowley's inventive teaching methods. Psychology boggles the mind with Mrs. Coburn. Social Studies is made fun with our new teacher, Ms. Sbaschnig. The entire department aids the students in learning what they will need to create a bright future, learning from mistakes and successes of the past.

Matt Hunt and Brian Dressell listen intently in class.

School is fun! That must be what Justin McCamis is thinking!





History is the most stimulating class. What is TJ Blackburn dreaming about?

Sarah Yapp studiously does her social studies classwork.

Español es estupendo! Sarah Miller works hard!

French, Spanish, Russian, take your pick. The Foreign Language department offers much more than grammar and a new vocabulary. Culture and knowledge of different countries come alive in the classrooms. Celebrations abound in this department. Whether we celebrate a birthday, Christmas, or the day of the dead (dia de los muertos), Foreign Language creates a fun and educational experience. Madame Clark fascinates us with stories of French life. Senora Moran illustrates the customs of Spanish speaking countries. Mrs. Quick brings life to Russian culture, and Mrs. Sherman does the same for Spanish, too. Whichever language we choose, there is no end to the knowledge that is ours to obtain. The students create a bond with their language teacher that lasts many years. Good luck on the AP, seniors. See you at Foreign Language Night!

Scott Long poses for a not so candid picture in his Spanish II class.

Mrs. Clark runs a tight ship in foreign language classes.

Who is Francois Mitterrand? Scott Allyn ponders during French V class.

Jeff Miller studies French literature very carefully during class time.

Exploring* with Science is not just another figure of speech. In the science department, the teachers help us to learn by any means possible. Whether the Biology students are making DNA models or the Anatomy students are finding the clavotrapezius on their cats, Mrs. Leonard always finds a way to make it fun. Physics can be a stressful class, but Mr. Michael makes it easy to learn. Mr. Pizza introduces eighth graders to Physical Science, while Ms. Peterson (also known as the rock lady) explores Geology. Fitz and his crazy ways make Chemistry one of the most enjoyable classes of LHS. No matter who the teacher is, or what the subject, the Science department makes learning exciting with hands on experience. The addition of the Science lab period into the schedule this year has allowed the students to get a better feel for the world around them, the world of Science.*

You want me to do what to the cat? Diana Belanger questions Mrs. Leonard.

Science is an interesting subject with Brian Crory!

Mrs. Leonard helps Mike Zolla with a tricky part of kidney physiology.

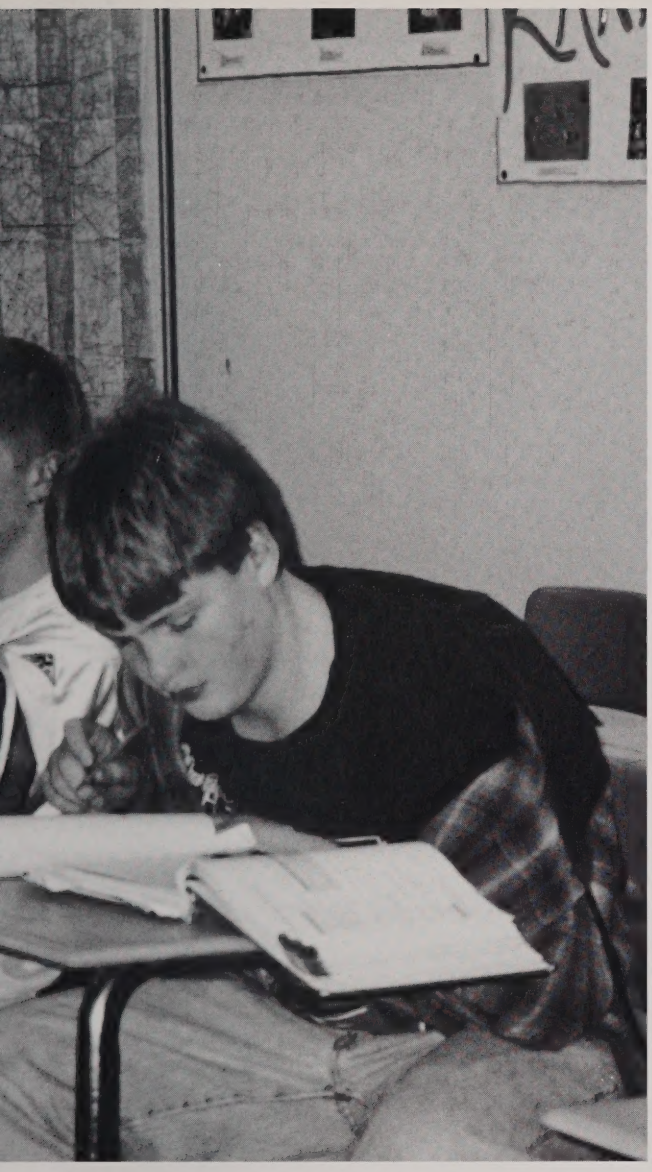
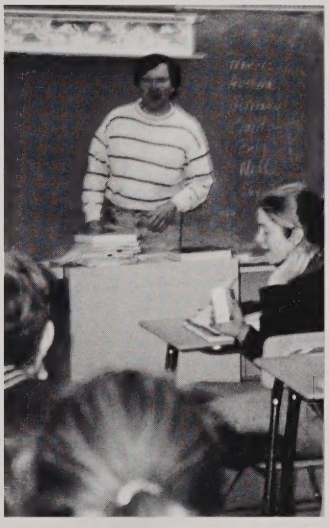
Programming the TI - 82 can be almost as hard as Calculus itself. Tony Astolfi and John Hathaway attempt to program.

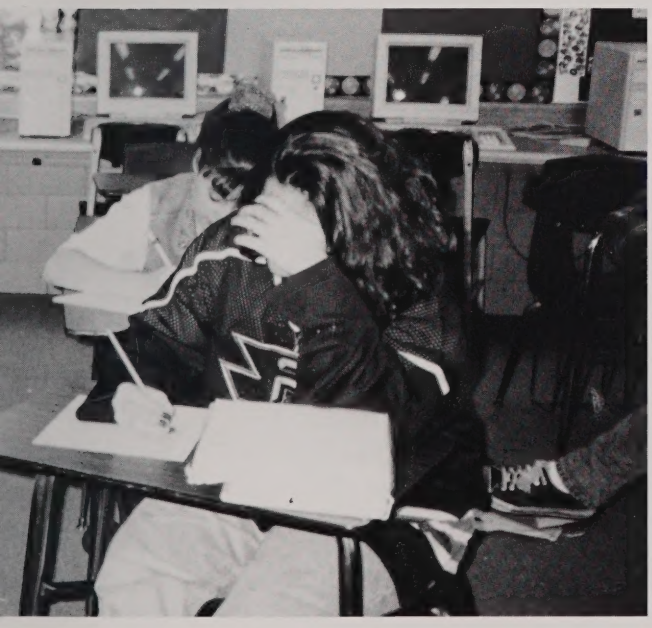


The Mathematics department sets the tone for academic excellence. From the moment the seventh graders walk into pre-algebra, they know that Calculus could fill their senior year. Whether it is 1 + 1, x + y, 2r, or rectilinear motion, the Math teachers always know how to keep a student on his toes. Mr. K and Mr. Salo keep the seventh graders busy with new and difficult work. Mr. Marr makes Algebra II a barrel of laughs and hyperbolas. Ms. Lordan adds a cheery smile to the strenuousness of pi. Calculus is anything but easy with Mr. Turner. To tell the truth, Math presents itself as hard work sometimes, but in the long run, everyone benefits. With the SAT, SAT II, and AP tests ahead of us, we can only hit the books. Each teacher has his or her own methods of study. The teachers encourage the same diversity among the students. The individuality of the methods adds life to the Mathematics classrooms. This department allows the numbers to leap right off the page, into the students' minds.



Ben Sladowsky works hard at his tough math problems.

Mr. Marr gives a life to parabolas each day.



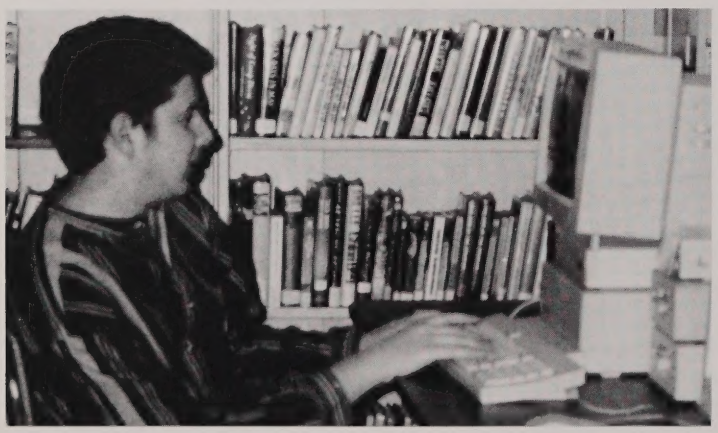
Ms. Lordan's quizzes are mind boggling!

Math class is anything but easy!

Many students can be seen finishing up papers in our tech lab. The Computer and Business departments do so much for our education. Whether it is Desktop Publishing with Miss Richard, or whether Mr. Richmond and Mrs. Panish help us figure out the Macs, everyone benefits. When need for help arises, help can always be found with our outstanding Special Needs department. Mr. McAndrews and Ms. Marsh aid those students who have a need to become successful in whatever they do. When there is a question to be answered, the answer makes itself clear through the support of our dedicated teachers.

The library is a great place to catch up on homework, as Rachael Wayland finds out.

Melissa Benjamin perks up in the cafeteria.



Adam Kenger uses all of the research tools possible in the library.

Through all of the bustle of school, Sarah Miller and Keri Leo find some down time.

Art is a relative term. Everyone has his or her own opinion. Most anyone could see that the students of the fine arts can create masterpieces. Students work hard in technical education with Mr. C. Mr. Foley excites all of the students in the band and chorus, along with the music classes. Ms. Richardson drags out our creativity in Art. If the arts do not amuse you, then maybe Physical Education will. Mrs. B and Mr. Legault get our pulses racing with all kinds of sports and activities. Can you tell who invented basketball? Whether it is Art or softball, one thing is for sure, the LHS students are ready to give it their all. (By the way, the inventor of basketball was James Naismith)

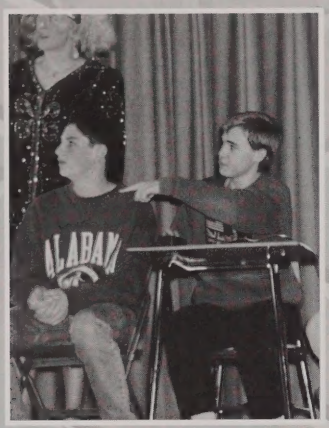
Student Life

Amanda Olsen, Ralph Ettlin, Laura Kanniard, and Jon Preston pose at foreign language night as they prepare to take the stage with their wonderful vocal performance. The quartet later won the talent competition of the night.



Contestants Jeff Miller and Scott Allyn debate a ruling in the high-pressure Jeopardy game as "Vanna White" (Chris Benjamin) looks on.

The foreign language fund is bound to get many donations as students ch support the senior scholarship.

Our host, TJ Blackburn entertains the audience during technical difficulties with his famous "Bagels and Grapes" ballad.

Gretchen Turner, along with many others, performed for an auditorium full of people at the foreign language festival.

Foreign Language Night

Talents are at their peak on this wonderful night of culture!

For the second year in a row, the Littleton High School foreign language department organized the Foreign Language Night Festival. The cafeteria transformed itself into street-side filled with cafes from around the world. Food of almost every type was available for a small price. Piñatas shaped as hot air balloons were on display in the lobby, dancers and singers were performing in the auditorium, and gingerbread creations were displayed all around the school. The night concluded itself with Ralph Ettlin single-handedly winning the Jeopardy game. Overall it was a large success as many people flocked to the school for a night of excellent food and entertainment, and what they received was just that. It was a wonderful event which many will look forward to in future years.

The cafes were a big hit. They filled many stomachs with incredible foods from an abundance of nations. Ciara White, Liz Wenz, Alison Sager, and Sarah-Beth Zoto, members of the Class of '97, were among the cafe participants.

Jennifer Cantino displayed her dancing technique along with others in the talent portion of the night.

Senior Kerry McDonald, sophomore Sibylle Haupert, and junior Tim Bove represent their respective classes in the musical chairs competition during "culture week" in the spring of '95.

Members of the class of '96 struggle to keep themselves from being yanked across the line in a spirited round of tug-o'-war.

Juniors (class of '96) Lisa Frizell and Denis Collins give the camera their "bocce eye" as they prepare to win their next match.

Culture Week '95

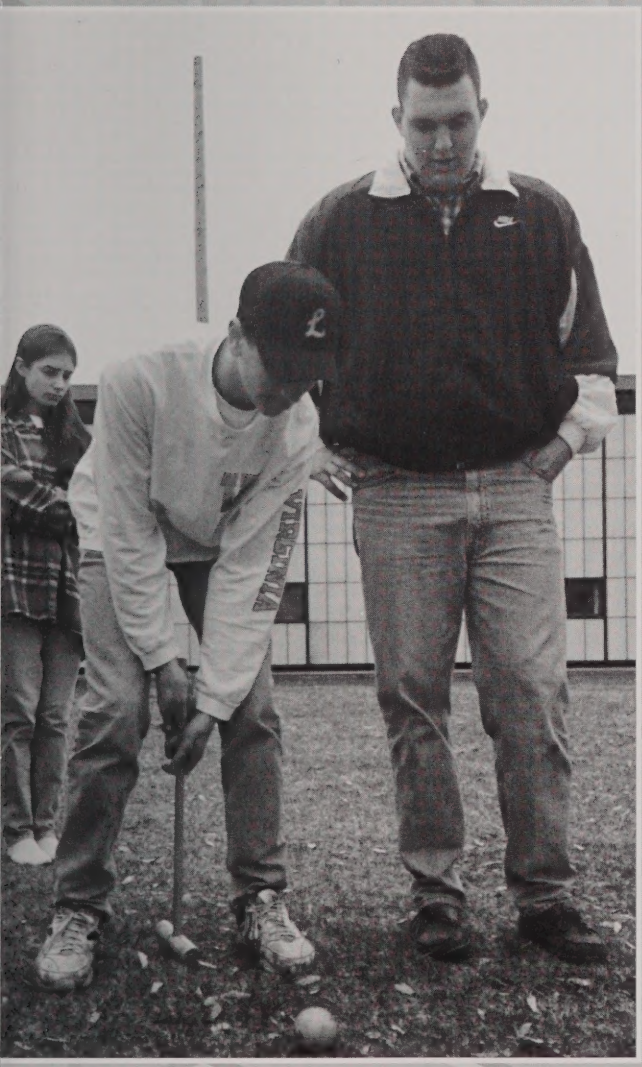
Despite strong efforts from all classes, the class of '95 slides away with the win.

The week of April 10 - April 14 brought croquette, volleyball, Ukrainian Eggs, bocce, international handball, and many other activities to Littleton Junior Senior High School. The halls were filled with an array of cultural decor, ranging from the snowflakes and sledders of Canada to the Great Wall of China, while the athletic fields were overrun by students playing any number of sports to support their class. The events were all competitive, and it was a close match between the classes of '95 and '97, but the senior class of '95 came away with the victory.

With small numbers of students in each grade, Culture Week provides us with an opportunity to learn about other cultures while se join together for a common goal. The rivalries are intense, new classes get to know each other better, and the upper classes reunite, even if it is only for one week of the year.

Junior Mike Scanlan tests his "luck" and skill at bocce as he and his teammates continue to overcome their opponents.

Eighth-grader Jessica Wolf uses her eye for detail as she carefully participates in Ukrainian egg decorating.



Jeff Miller and Kevin Anderson make croquet worthwhile as they plan their strategy.

Excited fans in the stands, Sarah Badger and Katie Feeney, show their class spirit.

The dancers watch in horror as Jud Fry (Greg Bottenhorn), in a jealous fit, kills Curly (Dave Wright). The dream sequence involved Curly's (Ralph Ettlin) and Laurey's (Laura Kanniard, Sarah Miller) counterparts (Dave Wright, Jennifer Masella) playing out the fears of Laurey's dream.

"Smile for Hollywood!" Ado Annie (Amanda Olsen) and Gertie Cummings (Melissa Tucker) quench their thirst and brush up on some lines during dress rehearsal. Although dress rehearsals went well, nerves were flying through the air on opening night.

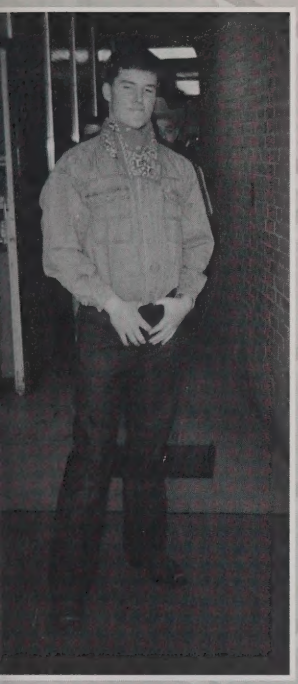
Caught in the act, dancers Sharon Foley, Shannon McCumber, Gretchen Turner, Tina Rizzitano, and Michellel Eaton prepare to make themselves beautiful. Many times the cast sat down to take a break, relax, and enjoy th memories with fellow actors.

Oklahoma!

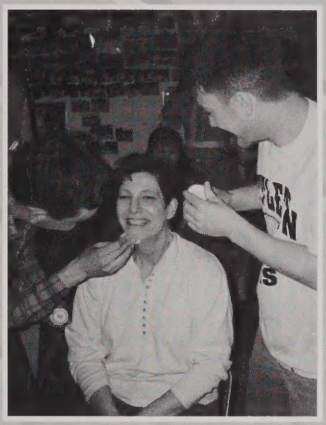
Actors ban together to make show a success

This year over 40 actors, actresses, and dancers pulled together to put on the musical Oklahoma! Set in the years when Oklahoma was still a territory but trying to become a state, it is the story of young love. The audience is taken through comical scenes involving the brash Aunt Eller, the flighty Ado Annie, the naive Will Parker, the flirty Gertie Cummings, and Ali Hakim, a traveling salesman from Persia. But the dramatic side shines through with such characters as Jud Fry, a farm-hand who is very possessive of Laurey, Curly, a hand-some cowboy trying to win Laurey's heart, and Laurey, an innocent girl who is the object of both Jud's and Curly's desire.

Many cast members will never forget the farmer vs. cowboy dance, the auction, "Many a New Day", and the dream ballet. As everyone pulled together through long practices and sore throats, anxiety filled the air when the performances came near. With exceptional characters, amazing voices, and dramatic acting, Oklahoma! was a huge success. As one theatre-goer commented, "The lively music and entertaining cast brought the show alive. I felt like I was home on the range!"



The strapping young Slim (Dave Wright) strikes a pose for the camera. The costume staff worked long and hard to come up with costumes for over forty actors and actresses. Many of the boys wore cowboy hats and boots, while the girls modeled calico dresses and ribbons in their hair.



annon Grundy, a member of the can-can dancers, shows a little leg during seductive dance. The dream ballet was a number in which many dancers re able to display their talents, either in the ballet or can-can dance.

"Let me get that spot for you!" Nate Long, who appeared as Will Parker, and Rich Zolla, who played the part of Cord Elam, give Mrs. Coburn a little help with her foundation. Many cast members dreaded both putting on the stage make-up and the amount of time it took to get it all off.

Regressing back to the days when they were young and free, (clockwise from the bottom) Greg Bottenhorn (Jud Fry), Sibylle Haupert (Gertie), Gretchen Turner (dancer), Ralph Ettlin (Curly), and Laura Kanniard (Laurey) take a break from play practice to spend the morning at the playground. Even though practice hours were long, it all paid off for performances with standing ovations.

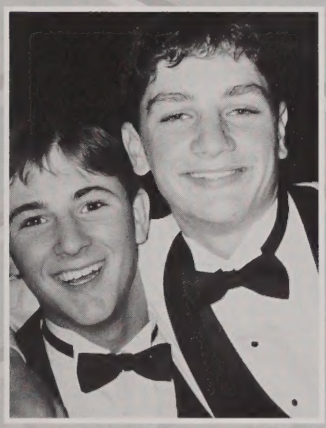
Members of the class of '96, Sarah Miller, Chaunte Briere, and Kate Davis touch themselves up for their dates at the prom.

There must be something really funny to Sarah Dubois and Jennifer Masella as they participate in the Grand March so the queen and her court can be named.

Party!!! Scott Gagnon shows off his dancing skills while surrounded by all girls at the prom.

Matthew Hunt and his date Astrid Olsen stop to pose for the camera at the fun-filled prom at Copley Square in Boston.

"Finney and Gene!" Guess which one is which. Steve Wright and Jeff Miller cut a rug on the dance floor.



The 1995 Prom

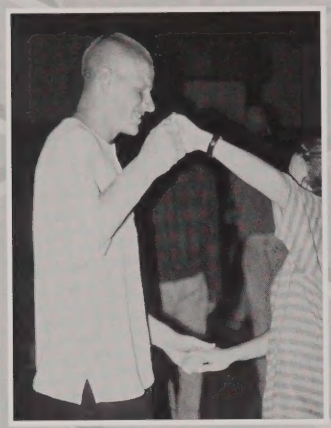
A night to remember!

May 12 — who could forget our Junior Prom? The day was perfect — warm and sunny. Everyone was running around for final preparations, including hair appointments, ordering flowers, finding gowns, renting tuxes, and hiring limos. This was going to be the "End of Innocence." The event being held at the prestigious Westin Hotel in Boston just added to our excitement. No one will forget the view we had from that ballroom — Boston lit at night. It was picture-perfect. The food was actually good which was surprising for Prom dinners. The girls looked beautiful, and the guys looked their best. Our excitement heightened as we formed the line and waited to be judged for Prom Court, Queen and King. The room went quiet as the names were read. Court members were announced to be Tammy Miller, Amanda Olsen, and Sarah Dubois. Next the Prom Queen was pronounced to be Lisa Frizzell, and following, the Prom King, Michael Scanlan was declared. Who could forget the Congo line or the LIMBO?! We all had a great time and definitely..."This is the Time to Remember."

Prom King and Queen, Michael Scanlan and Lisa Frizzell, pose graciously for all of the adoring cameras.

The Queen's Court looks their best — Tammy Miller, Amanda Olsen, and Sarah Dubois.

Tiger players Denis Collins, Jason Zawadzki, Kevin Anderson and Greg Sloboda file into the pep-rally. Tigers finished the season with an impressive 9-1 record.



Jason Zawadzki and Keri Leo having fun at the Homecoming dance.

Homecoming & Senior Costume Day '95

The nerd could use some counseling from a nun. Tammy Miller and Lisa Frizzell.

Wacky Kate Davis with her outrageous Pippy Longstalking costume.

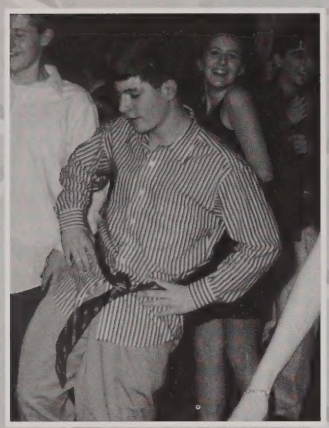
Costume and Homecoming Day brings out enthusiasm, class spirit, and lots of fun.

While October marks the change from summer to fall, at Littleton High School it also marks Senior Costume Day and Homecoming Weekend. This year's Costume Day brought us the accurate impersonation of Elvis by Matt Hunt and the inspiring facsimile of John Lennon by Dale Swanson. Costume Day also brought us the annual candy parade in which seniors distribute various candies to all the homerooms. Homecoming Day was at its best at half-time of the football game versus Keefe Tech. This is when the Homecoming court, queen, and king were presented all together. The Court consisted of Shawna Graham, Astrid Olsen, Pamela Kiernan, and Amanda Olsen. The lucky king and queen were T.J. Blackburn and Jennifer Cantino. The day ended as a success with the game finishing as a 19-6 win for Littleton.

The new dynamic duo: gypsy Diana Belanger with sidekick Michelle Poitras as Robin.

Denis Collins and Dave Walsh definitely won best costume with their gorilla outfits.

Shaun Clark makes an important call in the middle of cotillion mayhem with admirerers Shannon McCumber, Carolyn Hronik, Anna Pierce, and Meghann Saylor looking on.

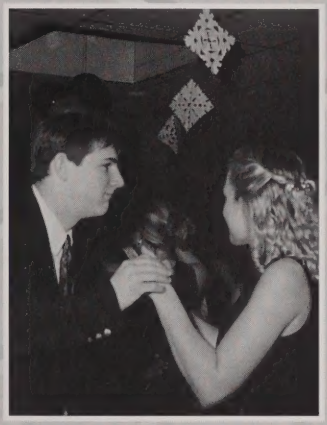


Dave Pettit and "Skippy" McGrath show off their many versatile talents on the dance floor.

Friends are great. Juniors Lesley Cobb, Chris Ellis, Alison Sager, Sarah Beth Zoto, Sibylle Haupert, Elizabeth Wenz, and Marie Hronik come together to display their love.

Tracey Kalukiewicz and Jimi Fayemiwo dance throught the night at the Winter Cotillion.

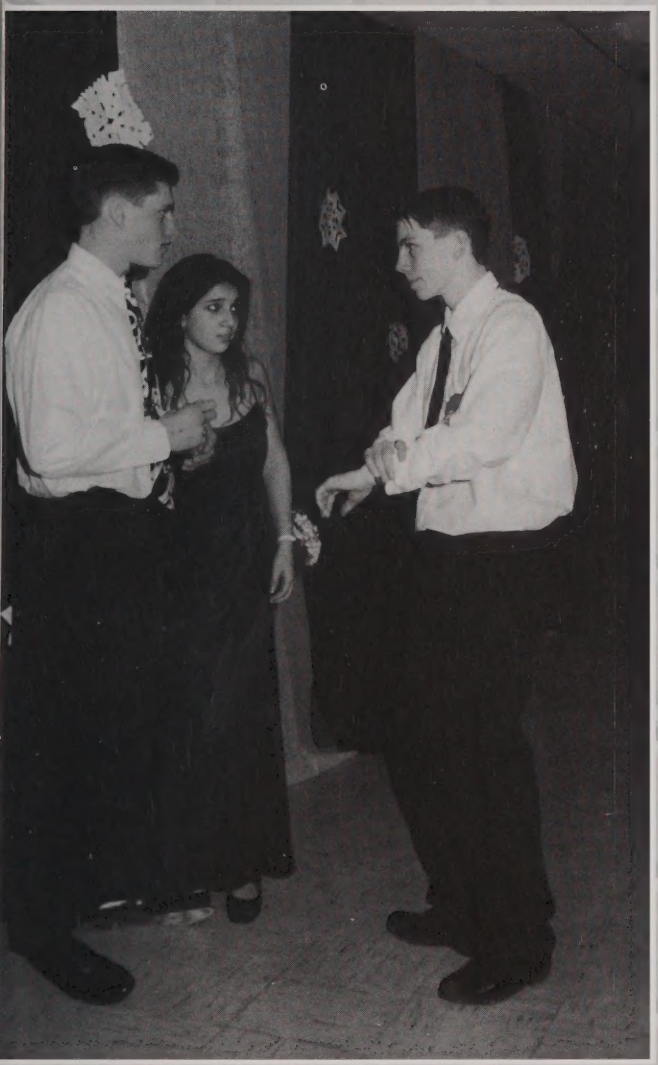
Our Senior class president, Amanda Olsen, and the loving Steve Wright dance to the wonderful success of the '96 cotillion.

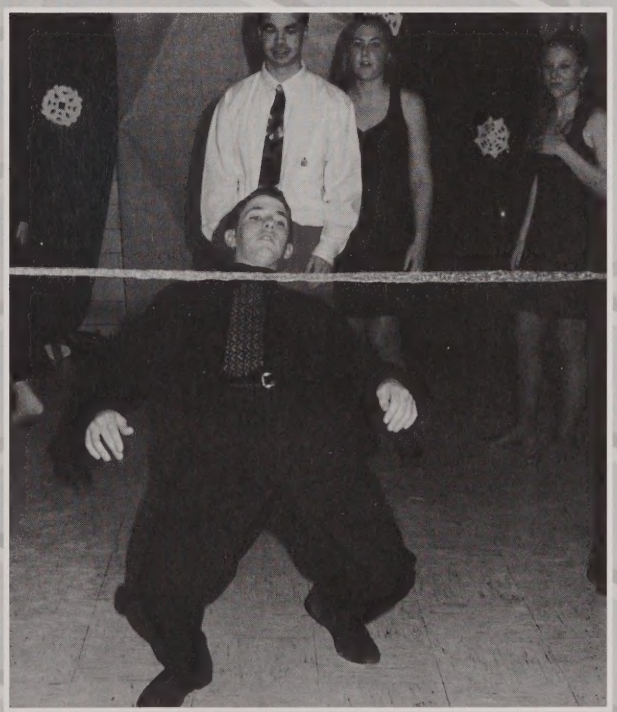


The 1996 Cotillion

Dancing away the winter blues!

The seniors organized and put on the 1996 cotillion. Because of the outrageous storms of '95 and '96, the cotillion, which is usually in December, was postponed until January. That did not matter much. Freshmen on up to seniors gathered at the high school to celebrate this wonderful season of snow. Dresses of all kinds and suits of the like were displayed by excited students who were ready to let loose and have some fun on the dance floor. As the night faded, the spirit did not. This is one Littleton tradition that is sure to last for a long time to come.





Brent Marshall is ready to do anything to dance with the girls, even beat up their dates!

Chad Nixon shows off his amazing flexibility in the limbo contest at the cotillion. Melissa Benjamin was the incredible limbo winner!

Underclassmen gather happily to escape school work.

In leaving this forced labour camp, I have simply to say that I reject all premise of learning occurring here, for this is naught but the systematic elimination of all independent thought. Orwell's predictions have come true, and worse: theses enemies of humanity and right will enslave and destroy until no free mind remains and the only thought is their thought supreme. But I issue this warning to them: you shall not succeed, and you shall perish for your crimes, for good will be victorious in the end. My sympathy and compassion to those who remain behind, and may all our salvation come soon.

SG, Spiffy, Captain, Stacy your my best friend I'll never forget you, or the things that we have been through together. I'm so happy that you have been there for me throughout everything. I promise to be there for you when you need someone to talk to. I LOVE YOU!! The summer of 95" Hampton Beach, Weirs Beach, Water Country, Canobie Lake, The Campgraound. MP&KP your both like older brothers to me, you never want to see me get hurt and I love you for that. AL you are a good friend and I'll never forget anything that we got in trouble for which was everything. MURPH your just a freak, but your a good freak. AC don't go sledding into any more trees. JW you are one of my best friends I dont know what I'd do without you. Kim I don't know what I'd do if we weren't sisters or friends. Jay your like my older brother always thinking that I'm a little trouble maker which I am. Thank you for everything you gave me. MOM & DAD I love you for putting up with me, all the times that you yelled at me , I'm just realizing that you yelled at me because you love me and you want to point me in the right direction. Squanto, Captain, Dennis your a great friend. I could never wonder what it would be like if you weren't around. I LOVE YOU because your always there for me when I need someone to talk to, because of you I realized that nobody is worth crying over. I SEE HOW IT IS!! LET'S GET IT SQUIRLY!!!!! Ok Dennis? WACK-A-WHO, WACK-A-WHAT!! Gotta go beat that 78!

Life's tough wear a helmet. Thanks to MBS for making my 5, 6, &7 th grades living misery. I proudly wear the scars. Ice climbing with Mr. L&EZ. Thanks to MC, TJ, MS, CS, KD, CB, MZ, SM, TA for dealing with me. MC-you have increased my wisdom greatly. JC-keep laughing(chem class) Boys soccer team-you made it a good season("You buried her")-Thanks to HATH! JM-"MORE". My Spanish 3 class-sorry I ruined it. "With every new experience you come back changed. Always pause to accept that change, and make it apart of yourself." I wear my hat proudly, but I never hide under it. BM-thanks for a great soccer season. Eric-my everlasting friend-success is reaching your goal and nothing more. Honk on KD! MC-always "play" to the beat of your drum, and listen carefully. DS-band wouldn't have cut it with out you. JH-Stay true to yourself. MA-We'll move to Alaska! TJ-conquer your own world first. "policee's"-netveyr cuozld speylll! I'm forever bonded to my mountain bike, the mountains will always call me, and I will always answer. DC-At least you broke even. I have learned more from my classmates than school could ever teach me. LD-Nice Sweater! So I'll run like White Fang, with God as my direction and faith as my light.

Senior Class Wills

I, Scott Allyn, leave Billy Carroll my knee brace to "reek" havok on the next unsuspecting rookie. I, Tony Astolfi, leave my best wishes for the future of America. I, Diana Belanger, leave the nickname Stretch to anyone tall enough to fill my softball cleats. I, Greg Bottenhorn, leave two decades of Bulgers to carry on my legacy. I, Chaunte Briere, leave all the craziness of high school to all of you little peoples. I, Erin Burrows, leave Sean Terrio Matt's purple fuzzy thing and Brian Crory all Danny's hats. I, Jenn Cantino, leave Mr. Harhen and Eric Zelinski alone at Alewife station on a windy day. I, Amber Carl, leave my love and happiness to my family and friends and to Dave a guitar pick. I, Michael Carpentier, leave something for someone but don't remember what it was or where I left it. I, Denis Collins,leave my brother Eddie and his friends the ability to walk the halls without the fear of being shoved into a locker. I, Tracy Coleman, leave three more Colemans and one more year for my accounting buddies. I, Kate Davis, leave Alaina all of my tips for last minute practicing for auditions. I, Jill Doyle, leave absolutely nothing. I, Brian Dressel, leave when I wake up. I, Lynn Dungey, leave Sarah McGrath to continue with the legend of B.U. and also all the wet labs which were left to me. I, Lisa Frizzell, leave Sean Terrio my tassel at graduation and "Big Fun" to be had. I, Scott Gagnon, leave nothing. I, Neishia Grady, leave two obnoxious siblings and Sarah Yapp the "bench". I, John Hathaway, leave the legend of M.C. Hath to remain in the minds of everyone who was part of the legacy. I, Crystal Hebb, leave Jenn Stanford 2 1/2 more years of gym class. I, Kerry Holland, leave knowing that my Baci knows her omens. I, Matthew Hunt, leave Jenn Stanford's rabbit the name Murphy, and the legacy of my cousin Mike to any other Hunt who wants it. I, Ann Marie Leduc, leave four new Heathers, and 3 more years of LHS for my brother, Kristopher. I, Scott Lubenau, leave my Chevy Malibu to anyone who wants it. I, Jennifer Lyn Masella, leave the Wizard of Oz dance to all who could dare to do it, and Sean Terrio a seat at graduation & lunch money for next year. I, Bryan P. McDonnell, leave knowing that, to the contrary of Mr. Turners's beliefs, I didn't ALWAYS miss wide right. I, Scott A. Millar, leave Mike Ziegler my Bruins luxury box ticket stub. I, Jeff Miller, leave my dad an all-purpose pass to any Littleton High School sports events he wants to attend. I, Sarah Miller, leave the green couch for future generations to use. I, Tammy Miller, leave Nancy and Lindsey a few more years of getting up at 5:30 am in order to get to school on time. I, Amanda Olsen, leave Brother Webster as first commander of the Great Rocket Ship and to Skipper I leave the Barbie Mobile and no flames please! I, Heather Parsons, leave high school to my memories, and the best of luck to the class of '96. I, Amy Pearce, leave Marie Hronik my car, to push to school every day. I, Michelle Poitras, leave CR with 10 mos. to wait til I'm 19. I, Bernhard Roosenburg, leave a lot of friends. I, Greg Roy, leave my brother Jeff 2 more full years of high school, with many more countless projects and papers. Good luck and have fun! I, Michael Scanlan, leave an assortment of greens to the A.A.O.'s. I, Jessica Shimmel, leave Neal Holland a pair of tickets and Amy Worden 3 more years of field hockey. Have fun! I, Kathryn Stemshorn, leave some memories of a crazy foreigner to the people who met me. I, Dale Swanson, leave knowing I fed a bunch of hungry kids with no money. I, Sean Terrio, leave for summer knowing that, unfortunately, I'll be back for another long year. I, Gabrielle Tringale, leave Angelica a bit of my artistic talent and her own room. I, David Wright, leave knowing that I am Steve's cousin. I, Steve Wright, leave Moose (Ryan) Johnston my alarm clock and an appointment book to schedule the next 2 years at LHS. I, Mike Ziegler, leave a large basket of assorted fruits (i.e. bananas, apples, oranges, grapes...) I, Michael Zolla, leave Mr. Crowley all the bad luck in the world.

The End Of The Line

Littleton Jr/Sr High School has always been a constant in each student's life. As we turn our backs to what we were, we can only dream of what we may become. One thing is for sure: we'll never forget the time we spent here, and how we finally did reach "the end of the line."

The 1996 Yearbook Staff would like to extend its gratitude to the Littleton Fire Department for the generous use of its truck and facilities for our class picture and car washes. Many thanks to Mrs. Chaple and Miss Lordan for making this book possible.

As the seniors turn our backs to LHS, they move on, but do not forget.
